The number of seats or subscriptions per transaction must not exceed 10.

WITHDRAWAL OF TICKETS AND SUBSCRIPTIONS

Ticket(s) or subscription(s) and the online purchase confirmation should be checked by the buyer upon receipt. No further claims will be considered. Issued tickets are unique.

However, duplicates can be printed in case of theft or loss upon presentation of identification and the confirmation email received when tickets were purchased online, or if the ticketing software manages to recover the booking. In any event, even in this case, only the ticket holder is entitled to take the seat. Printing of a duplicate will be charged at 1 €.

Tickets and subscriptions can be:

- either withdrawn on site by the buyer before the performance at the dedicated counter in the Théâtre National – if the withdrawal occurs on the day of the performance, it has to happen no sooner than one hour before and no later than fifteen minutes before the beginning of the show, on presentation of the booking confirmation email,
- or sent no later than 7 days before the date of the performance to the address indicated by the buyer, with a shipping fee of 2 €,
- or printed by the buyer himself through the "e-tickets" process. If you opted to print tickets at home, your e-tickets are attached to the order confirmation. The e-ticket process allows you to print purchased tickets on an ordinary printer with internet access. You must print the e-tickets on an A4 white sheet (one side only) of good quality that will ensure the readability of the barcode. E-tickets may also be presented on a smartphone with a satisfactory resolution.

Entrance to the performance is subject to validity control of the ticket. The ticket is only valid on the date and conditions of use listed on it. There is one ticket for each seat purchased. Multiple entries with the same ticket are prohibited. Reproduction of the tickets is strictly prohibited. Only the first person to present the ticket will be admitted to attend the event. That person is presumed to be the lawful holder of the ticket. This is why it is prohibited to reproduce, duplicate or counterfeit the ticket in any way or to make it available for such purposes. You should never accept a ticket from a stranger as it might be a counterfeit. The Théâtre National may refuse entry to the performance when several prints, reproductions, copies or imitations of a home-printable ticket are circulating and that access to the event has previously been granted to the holder of a ticket. In case of loss or theft, you can call the Théâtre National "location" department (+32.2.203.53.03.) that will normally emit a duplicate ticket. In that case, the duplicate can be withdrawn on the day of the performance, not earlier than one hour before and not later than fifteen minutes before the beginning of the performance.

SUBSCRIPTION AND PASS

The different options and prices for subscriptions and passes are attached to these general conditions.

These terms apply to subscriptions and are subject to specific conditions provided on the subscription documents.

MODIFICATION - CANCELLATION OF A PERFORMANCE

The Théâtre National reserves the possibility to modify order, duration and distribution of the show. Additionally, the Théâtre National Wallonie-Bruxelles reserves the right to cancel any performance that could not take place due to fortuitous events or force majeure as (and the list is not exhaustive) extreme weather conditions, union strikes, fire, attacks, war, water damages, illness of an interpreter, etc. In such an occurrence, the Théâtre National Wallonie-Bruxelles will propose another date to attend the performance or a ticket refund.

If a performance is interrupted later than the first half of the show, tickets cannot be returned nor exchanged to another date, nor refunded.

Refunds are done by bank transfer.

Requests for refund or ticket exchange must be sent to the "location" department of the Théâtre National by email to location@theatrenational.be or by phone to +32.2.203.53.03 from Tuesday to Saturday from 11am until 6pm.

USE OF THE TICKET

Tickets cannot be returned or exchanged. A ticket is personal and non-transferable. The ticket is only valid for the location, performance, date and time mentioned on it.

The ticket must be presented to the controls at the entrance of the location of the performance. An official, valid identification card may be requested to identify the buyer of the ticket. The Théâtre National cannot be held responsible if that optional verification did not happen before, especially in cases where a ticket was forged.

It is imperative that the control slip is attached to the ticket. When a barcode is present, the ticket can be controlled using an electronic scan device.

Only the ticket holder is entitled to take the seat mentioned on the ticket of the performance.

The ticket must be kept for the duration of your presence on the location of the performance and must be showed to any security checkpoint on the site.

ACCESS TO THE PERFORMANCE

The performance starts at the time indicated on the ticket. Opening the doors of the auditorium will generally occur 15 minutes before the performance.

Five minutes before the scheduled time for the beginning of the performance, access to numbered seats is no longer guaranteed. The auditorium staff will then place the audience in accordance with the non-occupied seats.

Once the curtain is raised, latecomers will not be allowed to access the auditorium anymore. If possible, they will be seated at the favour of a performance interruption and in accordance with the accessibility to that performance.

Otherwise, the ticket will be lost without any possible compensation. Due to some auditorium configuration or some artistic requirements for some performances, it might not always be possible to let the latecomers access the performance.

For creations, the duration of the performance is variable and will only be known a few days before the show.

For security reasons, the spectator might have to undergo palpation and/or a scan at the entrance of the location of the performance. Access will be denied to anyone who does not submit to those security measures. It is strictly prohibited to enter the location of the performance with any object that could be use as a projectile, or dangerous objects or any pyrotechnic item.

Cell phones must be turned off for the duration of the performance.

INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY RIGHTS AND IMAGE RIGHTS

The Théâtre National retains all intellectual property rights that it holds regarding the performance. Except in the case of exceptions to copyright, the buyer cannot in any way detract the Théâtre National and/or any third party (director, actors ...) from their copyrights.

It is prohibited to take pictures, make a video or record the performance in any form whatsoever.

If the Théâtre National has planned for the performance to be recorded, the audience is likely to appear in the recording. By accepting these terms and conditions and/or by attending the show, the buyer and/or the person(s) he bought the tickets for, agree that his/their image can be reproduced (in particular, for shots of the auditorium where the audience appears) within the frame of this recording and may be exhibited by the Théâtre National. This right is granted to the entire world, for free.

CLAIMS - LITIGATIONS

Any claim should be introduced to the Théâtre National no later than the day after the performance, either by letter to Boulevard Emile Jacqmain 111-115, B-1000 Brussels or by email to location@theatrenational.be.

No further claims will be considered.

The sale of tickets by the Théâtre National is subject to Belgian law. In case of litigation, only the French courts of Brussels will be competent.

For online sales, information on alternative dispute resolution can be obtained via the link <http://ec.europa.eu/odr/>

Holding a Troika pass does not imply the absolute right to obtain tickets with a 20% discount for all the shows presented by the three operators.

Each operator is free to decide the ticket price for the shows he is selling tickets for.

The discount is not applicable on discounted rates by each institution, nor can it be combined with other discounts.

WITHDRAWAL OF PASSES AND TICKETS

There is no physical Troika pass.
